Dippy the Diplodocus - An illustrated talk for adults and children
by Dr. Caroline Buttler

Dippy the diplodocus has travelled from the Natural History Museum in London down the M4 and is being installed in our Museum from the 19th October 2019 to 26th January 2020. We are very lucky to have him. Dr. Caroline Buttler, who is Head of Palaeontology at the Museum is going to give an illustrated talk about him for children over the age of 6, accompanied by a parent or grandparent. There will be an opportunity for children to ask questions and handle dinosaur bones and teeth - some real, some plaster casts.

The talk will be in the Oriel Suite to allow children a better view of the screen and give them easier freedom of movement to come forward to examine the exhibits.

The talk will be similar to the one given after the AGM but will be aimed at a mixed audience including children. I know young children love dinosaurs and hopefully this will be the first of many talks they go to in the Museum.

This event is for Friends only and the children who are accompanying them and only 90 places are available so booking is essential.

The admission charge for this illustrated talk, which includes coffee/tea and a drink for children £8 for Friends and £4 for children.

Please complete the form below by Friday 13th December with a cheque made out to the Friends of National Museum Wales. No acknowledgement will be sent.

NB Please do not pay for more than one event on the same cheque.
